

Häfele Kabi-Flow Redefines Access and Security for Modern Furniture

Hafele's Kabi-Net Digital Furniture Locks range continues to bring enhanced convenience and security to modern furniture with Kabi-Flow, a digital furniture lock designed for cabinets and wardrobes. Combining wireless fingerprint technology with flexible installation and multi-lock connectivity, Kabi-Flow offers a sophisticated approach to securing multiple storage spaces with ease.

A key feature of Kabi-Flow is its wireless fingerprint scanner, which can operate the lock body from a distance of up to 10 meters. The scanner can also be connected to up to four lock bodies simultaneously, enabling multiple cabinets or wardrobes to be unlocked using a single registered fingerprint. This makes it particularly convenient for applications with multiple storage units.

Kabi-Flow is designed to offer flexibility across a range of furniture applications. It can be installed on swing and sliding wooden doors as well as swing and sliding glass doors with aluminium profiles. Three dedicated strike plate options allow the lock to be adapted to these different configurations, providing greater freedom in furniture design and installation.

The lock also incorporates features for convenient access in unexpected situations. An E-Key, unique to each fingerprint scanner, provides an alternative access option when a registered fingerprint is unavailable. Additionally, the USB Type-C connector allows the lock body to be jump-started using an external power source in case the batteries run out.

Designed to integrate discreetly into furniture, the lock body and other components remain concealed within the cabinet or wardrobe, while the fingerprint scanner can be positioned separately or kept hidden. A three-colour status indicator provides intuitive feedback on the lock's operating status, while the Black Matt finish complements contemporary furniture aesthetics.

With its combination of wireless fingerprint access, multi-lock connectivity, versatile installation and emergency access features, Häfele Kabi-Flow Digital Furniture Lock offers a convenient and secure solution for modern cabinets and wardrobes.
